JAS. McMUNN, arrived from Lesser Slave lake on Monday, where he has been employed for the past two months by the H. B. Co. in clearing obstructions to steamboat navigation out of the Lesser Slave river; assisted by a gang of eight men. It was intended to blast rocks out of the river channel, but owing to the Athabasca into which Lesser Slave river empties freezing sooner than Slave river the running ice in the latter was jammed, making the water on the rapids too deep for work at blasting the rocks. The ice formed on Slave lake about November 11th, but there was still some open water when Mr. McMunn left. The snow was about five inches deep, from the head of the head of the lake to the Athabasca Landing, becoming shallower coming south from that point, until it disappeared north of the Sturgeon. The snow was much deeper in the Peace river country. Fish are not as plentiful as usual at Slave lake and fur is also scarce, owing partly to the destruction of beaver last spring. Courtesie, the escaped prisoner, is living at Slave lake now and is in hopes that he will not be further molested.

THE Apron social and concert given by the Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church in aid of the church funds last evening in the public school house, was largely attended and very successful. The examination of the junior department closed at 3:30 p. m. and of the senior department about 4 p. m. Rev. Mr. McQueen was called upon to occupy the chair, Miss Maggie Lauder read the following address to Mr. Jas. Martin, teacher of the senior department:

JAMES MARTIN, Esq.
Dear Teacher:
At the close of another year, we, your pupils, cannot let this opportunity pass without giving some expression of our esteem for you, and our gratitude for the faithful and untiring efforts you have made to advance us in our studies. We ask you therefore to accept the accompanying gift with our best wishes for you and yours, and that the coming year may be spent as pleasantly and profitably as the one now closing.

Signed on behalf of the pupils,
MAGGIE LAUDER,
JENNIE GOODRIDGE.
Edmonton, December, 20th, 1888.

At the proper moment during the reading of the address Miss Jennie Goodridge presented Mr. Martin with a handsome collar and cuff box.

Mr. Martin replied feelingly, expressing surprise and pleasure at the token of esteem received and concluded by hoping that the happy relations at present existing between teacher and pupils might long continue. Messrs. Bradley, Oliver, Shaw, McCauley, and Ross were called upon and made remarks expressive of satisfaction at the advancement shown by the pupils during the examination. Mr. Ross explained that the distribution of prizes was unavoidably postponed owing to the order sent away some time ago not having yet been filled. The proceedings were concluded by the singing of God Save the Queen. The following is a list of the prize winners in the written examination.
